Course evaluations

Course evaluations are read by instructors, chairs, deans, the provost and the president. They are used

- To help instructors improve their courses
- To help the department identify any problem areas
- To provide students with summary information about other UofT courses
- To assess instructors for annual performance reviews
- To assess instructors for tenure and promotion review
- In nominations for teaching awards

Please fill yours out! I especially appreciate written feedback.